

Hello, my name is Adam.

I am a car mechanic. I work in oil service for OLPOL company. I have to attend a lot of meetings. I advise clients about their cars though the sales manager generally speaks with them.

I've got a stationary job, although sometimes I have to drive the clients' cars as I have to check their vehicles. I have regular working hours and I also do overtime. Generally, I work from seven to five. I have got a full-time contract and I have got 21 days of paid holidays a year.

I receive my payment in two parts. First part is a basic wage and second part is overtime and percentage of work I have done. I like my job because of my fascination with cars.
